

Becky Kappus

Professional Bio

Becky Kappus feels St. Charles Borromeo School has the absolute best students. Mrs. Kappus has been teaching since 1983. In addition to teaching at St. Charles, she teaches adults at a private university. Her degrees include a BS in Secondary Education from Utah State, a Level II licensure and an MA in Education from UNM. Mrs. Kappus belongs to the Phi Kappa Phi Honor Society. Her plans for the future are to continue to keep up on the latest educational trends and to be excited and enthusiastic about her work. She will also continue to attend workshops and classes to stay informed.

Educational Philosophy

Mrs. Kappus believes children learn in many ways and an effort must be made to determine how students learn in order to make education relevant for all students. She believes it is essential for educators to acknowledge different cultures and learning styles present in the classroom in order to make learning more challenging and meaningful for students.
