

Angela McBride

Professional Bio

Angi McBride is excited to work at St. Charles Borromeo School because it is a small school with small classes which allow her, as a teacher, to focus more on individual student needs. She has been with us since 2007. Angi has taught at the early childhood level also. Her past work experiences have allowed her to work with children of all ages, from infants to age 18. Angi has worked as a camp counselor, as well as an Outreach Director and Grant Program Manager for two separate Girl Scout Councils. She earned her undergraduate in Communications, and completed her Masters in Elementary Education in December 2007. She is a member of the American Federation of Teachers. Angi hopes to study more about reading and math instruction in the coming years as a teacher.

Educational Philosophy

Every child can learn. Angi believes that each child is capable of learning. You just have to find the way that they learn best. She believes in differentiated instruction and tapping into a child's innate ability and enthusiasm for learning. She also believes that everyone learns throughout their life and education does not stop when you complete school.
